1 What's new since our last meeting?

1.1 DAYCLI guidelines

Receiving 7 answers from reviewers. The one from Axel has yet not been analysed. Expected to respond to all comments and have the final version of the DAYCLI Guidelines for the for 24 July 2026. It is still interesting to have reviewers before this date. It is important to get the DAYCLI Guidelines approved prior to INFCOM-4 so that DAYCLI implementation can be planned for 2027.

- ➔ Denis to contact Céline Jouffrey (Director Meteorological and Sectoral Services) for DAYCLI side event during SERCOM-4
- ➔ Peer and Denis to check the approval process for the DAYCLI Guidelines (SERCOM-MG?):
Peer checked in the Secretariat and confirms approval by SERCOM MG.

1.2 INFCOM / Expert Team on Information Management (ET-IM)

Both the revised version of WMO-No. 1238 (WMO Manual on the High Quality Global Data Management Framework for Climate) and the CDMS functional requirements are now ready to be circulated for review.

- ➔ Deadline: 31st July 2026.

Both documents will be submitted to INFCOM-4 (WMO 1238 for approval, CDMS functional requirements for information).

1.3 Standards at the European Committee for Standardization (CEN)

The Technical Committee on Climate Change (CEN/TC 467) has several standards and technical reports in construction:

- ➔ The technical report "Adaptation to climate change - Guidelines on using climate data in infrastructure standards" is currently being finalized.
- ➔ The standard "Climate Services – Principles, Requirements and Guidance" is in construction. Publication planned for beginning of 2028.

1.4 WMO Centennial Observing Stations recognised by Executive Council (Peer)

88 additional meteorological, hydrological and marine observing stations have been recognised. The recognition mechanism is highly appreciated by WMO Members. Another call for nominations will be issued later this year for recognition (including ceremony) by Congress-20 (14-25 June 2027).

1.5 ET-DDS future (Denis/ Reinaldo)

No new information is currently available regarding the future organizational arrangements for ET-DDS.

1.6 Executive Council EC-80

The recently approved EC-80 resolution on the review of WMO governing body structures establishes a broader process to examine WMO governance and technical bodies. Among the recommendations under consideration is a future review of subsidiary scientific and technical bodies, with a view to their integration within the Technical Commissions. This broader context may be relevant for future discussions on the evolution of Expert Teams.

- ➔ Denis to find out the composition of the EC Task Force
